Mines Peril U.S. Gunboat

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—(UP)—The United States gunboat Monocacy, with 45 officers and men aboard, is in grave danger in the upper Yangtze river where it is held by a Japanese blockade, it was learned today.

Information was received in Shanghai that several mines have exploded within 80 yards of the gunboat and that the first one exploded 90 minutes after Japanese mine sweepers left the area.

Baddy Shaken

The ship has been badly shaken and has been sprayed—though without damage—by mine fragments. Gunners aboard the Monocacy have tried vainly, it was understood, to detonate mines which began to float dangerously near.

It was learned that after the first explosions Lieut. Comdr. Clarence V. Conlan, commanding the Monocacy, went ashore at once, protested to the Japanese and said that his government would hold the Japanese government responsible for any "mis-hap."

Ignore Protest

The Japanese consulate ignored Conlan's protest, it was said, and warned him curtly that the Japanese navy would not accept any responsibility because the monocracy was in a danger zone.

BLAME JAIL HEAD FOR STEAM DEATHS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Coroner Charles H. Hersch said today "we feel" that superintendent William B. Mills was involved in the "roasting deaths" of four convicts at Philadelphia county prison.

The coroner said he understood that Mills took John J. Schroeder, one of the victims, to the "Klon-dike" cellblock Friday. The men were found dead Monday morning. Twenty-one others who had been placed in the super-heated punishment cells later required hospitalization.

Denies Blames

Mills was said to have told investigators that he turned off the steam in the radiator-lined cell-block but that it was turned on again without his knowledge.

"When the superintendent delivers a man personally to the isolation ward where four deaths occurred," Hersch said, "we feel that he is very much involved in the case."

FANNY BRICE'S MOTHER INJURED

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Fanny Brice's mother was in Cedars of Lebanon hospital today with a skull fracture, suffered when Bertha Soderberg, 35, learning to drive, stepped on the gas instead of the brake and crashed into the Brice limousine.

Mrs. Rose Brice, 62, was in "serious, but not critical" condition, it was announced. The basal skull fracture was not an extensive one. Carolyn Brice, 38, the comedienne's sister, was shaken up and possibly fractured a rib in the crash. Fanny was not in the car.

10 Injured
In Train Crash

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 29.—(UP)—A train wreck on a mountain line north of here causing serious injuries to 10 persons, resulted from the failure of an electric locomotive to stop at a switch half way down the slope, investigators believed today. The engineer, whose name was not learned, leaped from his cab a moment before the crash.

The engine and two coaches, apparently out of control, sped down the mountainside and collided with another engine which was standing idle on the main line tracks. The coaches contained mine workers and their families who were going on a Sunday outing by boat to Vancouver.

The passengers who suffered most serious injuries leaped from coaches when it became apparent that there would be a crash. Those who remained suffered shock, cuts and bruises. The most seriously hurt were brought to Vancouver by the boat which was to have been used for the outing.

JAPAN REJECTS PROTEST

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—(UP)—

The Japanese foreign office is drafting a "polite rejection" of the United States protest against the destruction of a Chinese passenger plane by Japanese Bombers, the Donsel News Agency reported to-day from Tokyo.

The airplane was shot down near Canton with the loss of 14 passengers.

Knee-deep in the swirling flood waters of the Yellow river, a Japanese anti-aircraft detachment is shown above as it looses a barrage of shells against Chinese planes. This picture was made as the invaders continued their desperate onslaught on Hankow, main objective of their "big push." Note the exploded shell falling into the water with a splash while a soldier shoves new ammunition into the huge gun.

WAR SCARES DOMINATE WORLD MARKETS; STOCK PRICES FALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(UP)—News of "war scares" dominated world markets today.

Stocks in New York broke $1 to $4 a share at an active opening and extended the losses. Bonds were weak, notably rails.

In London prices were marked down on a somewhat new basis. It would indicate that the speech in which Sir John Simon warned Germany Saturday in behalf of the government was merely a strained version for the public of what actually had occurred.

Sir Nevile Henderson was said to have warned Germany not once but on several occasions.

As for France and Russia, each is bound to defend Czechoslovakia again.

Affidavit Says M'ADOO KLANSMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Person Hall, former U. S. district attorney for Southern California and now campaign manager for Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate of the United States Senate, today presented an affidavit purporting to show that U. S. Senator William Gibbs McAdoo admitted he once belonged to the Ku Klux Klan.

McAdoo has denied earlier charges by Hall that he ever was a member of the Klan and has offered to drop the charge if Hall and others came into possession of an alleged Klan membership card bearing the name of "William G. McAdoo."

The affidavit presented by Hall was signed by G. S. Shippey, who said that in 1932 he was riding with McAdoo and offered to obtain Klan votes for McAdoo.

Ramos faces two charges of rebellion and one of illegal association arising from the abortive one day uprising in which at least 62 persons were killed, scores wounded and more than 250 arrested.

It was learned that Ramos will be arraigned Thursday on a charge that he organized the Sakdalists beginning in 1933 for the avowed purposes of rebellion and sedition. It was generally predicted he will be sentenced to prison, serve a portion of his term, then obtain an executive pardon.

*Radical Leader

MANILA, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Benigno Ramos, supreme leader of the Sakdal party, radical agrarian group which revolted in 1935, was arrested and freed on $13,500 bonds raised by his followers today after his return from Japan, where he has been exiled since 1934.

Legion Seeks To Block Indigents

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 29.—(UP)—Asserting that the "serious problem of migration of indigents" threatens California with financial chaos and ruin, American Legion members from 74 Central California posts urged today that the federal government provide relief for migrants in their home communities.

The Legionnaires further proposed in a resolution adopted at a third area convention here this weekend that information be disseminated at the various sources of settlement, Mrs. Spreckels will receive a lump sum of $33,900 and, in return, will forfeit her $500 a month alimony payments. Attorney S. S. Hahn, Mrs. Spreckels' counsel said.

FIGHT LOOMS IN OIL CASE

Scene of possible criminal action in connection with the tideland oil scandal involving rich oil lands at Huntington Beach today had shifted to Orange county.

Shortly before noon today, full transcripts and case files in the cases of Carl B. Sturzenacker, former chief of the state division of lands, and his assistant, A. H. Alexander, were received by District Attorney William F. Menton "for examination to determine whether evidence in the matters warrant criminal action against Sturzenacker and Alexander, or both."

The files and transcript included complaints by Norris Burke, special investigator for the state personnel board, against Sturzenacker and Alexander; a photostat of a $500 check assertedly paid by C. M. Rood, Huntington Beach operator, to Joe Rosenthal; and affidavits in the tideland scandal.

Deputy Postmaster General James A. Farley returned to the capital today and Mr. Roosevelt will arrive tomorrow.

Late developments included:

1. Mr. Roosevelt renewed and made more emphatic his wish that South Carolina Democrats reject conservative Sen. Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith in tomorrow's vital primary.

2. Wade Maryland with a Labor Day speech which inevitably will oppose the renomination of conservative Sen. Millard E. Tydings in the Sept. 13 primary.

3. A run off primary in the 13th congressional district retired another Texas New Dealer and re-lived speculation whether Vice-President Garner in his home state is engaged in preliminary maneuvers to break Mr. Roosevelt's hold on the Democratic party. Rep. D. McFarlane, "My old friend," to Mr. Roosevelt, lost in the 13th to Ed Gossell, Wichita Falls lawyer.

4. Col. Theodore Roosevelt endorsed John J. O'Connor, Democratic incumbent for Republican nomination to Congress from New York's 16th district. O'Connor, de-

MENTON CONTINUES PAMPHLET INQUIRY

Deputies under District Attorney W. F. Menton today were continuing the investigation, opened early Saturday, in an effort to learn the identity of the author of seditious political pamphlets that were circulated last week throughout Orange county, "and a report on the matter may be forthcoming late today or tomorrow."

This was nearly two weeks ago that Sturzenacker announced that he would ask withdrawal of his resignation as chief of the state lands division. He said then that he would ask a public hearing before the personnel board.

HAWAII MOVES FOR PLEBISCITE

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 29. (UP)—Agitation for Hawaii's statehood probably will start anew when complete independence is granted to the Philippine Islands.

No other part of the United States is watching progress of the Philippines' bid for freedom with keener interest than Hawaii, from these viewpoints:

Racially, there are approximately 40,000 Filipinos in Hawaii, a majority of them young single men. About one-half are employed on sugar plantations, the remainder on pineapple plantations and other enterprises.

Defensively, removal of the American Naval Base at Cavite, if carried out, and withdrawal of American army forces from the Philippines will leave Hawaii the spearhead of Pacific defenses.

Economically, Philippine sugar potentially is a ruinous competitor of Hawaiian sugar, due to much lower production costs; should the American and world sugar marketing setup break down, Hawaiian sugar companies might face economic ruin.

Independence Feeling Strong

There is no question but that the overwhelming majority of Filipinos in Hawaii favor independence. Classed as citizens of the Commonwealth, a majority of them live with the expectation of returning to the Philippines.

Only a few weeks ago Gov. Joseph Poindexter rejected a plan to organize a division of "Philippines National Volunteers," envisaged as a part of the "Citizens' Army of the Philippines." In Hawaii Territorial and federal laws prohibited such an organization.

An idea of the strong tie between Filipinos in Hawaii and their homeland is given by figures compiled by the Hawaii Sugar Planters Association, showing the number of Filipinos arriving in the miles.

U. S. ARMY MEN UNIMPRESSED BY HUGE NEW NAZI CANNON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(UP)—American ordnance experts and high ranking army officials were unimpressed today by reports from Berlin of the German army's new "Big Bertha" mobile gun.

They admitted that it made its first public appearance at a carefully staged public show where the military attaches of Czechoslovakia, France and Germany were given ringside seats. Some believed that it was "uncovered" by Nazi officials in an effort to offset confidential military intelligence reports, only opinion was that the new gun is an artillery freak, something like the "Big Bertha" used to shell Paris during the world war. In their opinion it probably was designed more for the purpose of impressing Germany's potential enemies than for practical military usage.

They noted that it made its first public appearance at a carefully staged public show where the military attaches of Czechoslovakia, France and Germany were given ringside seats. Some believed that it was "uncovered" by Nazi officials in an effort to offset confidential military intelligence reports, only recently received by the general staffs of the Democratic powers, of weaknesses revealed both in army organization and material during the German march into Austria.

PRIZE DOG KIDNAPED

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. Helen Teller of Reno, Nev., felt that insult really had been added to injury when someone stole her prize-winning Pekingese from her car as it was parked in front of a store here and left in its place a multi-colored alley cat with its caudal appendage missing. She believed the Pekingese was kidnapped.

LOYALISTS IN COUNTER DRIVE

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Government forces in southwestern Spain drove in a westerly direction today in a counter offense which put the Nationalists on the defensive and destroyed their chief line of communications, Barcelona districts said.

The Loyalist drive broke up the campaign which Insurgent Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano had directed against the valuable mercury mines around Almaden.

Slash Lines

The government forces, commanded by Gen. Jose Asensio, were reported to have cut through the insurgents' lines, cut the main railroad from Madrid to Badajoz and the highway from Cabo del Buey to Castuera and advanced more than eight miles in two days.

Additional Loyalist reports said that insurgent advance lines around Zarza-Capilla, the nearest threat to Almaden, were broken up.

Government reports from Andujar said that the Republican troops made a series of rapid thrusts behind artillery, field gun and machine gun barrages and that they were aided considerably by airplanes.

The Republicans said that the Nationalists were threatened with a major defeat and loss of considerable material and territory as a result of the brilliant maneuver engineered by Asensio.

Chaney Winner Of Trip To Canada

As a reward for selling more than $300,000 in life insurance during the past year, Homer Chaney, special agent for the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, today received a free trip to Banff, Alberta, Canada according to an announcement by George Smith, president of the company.

Chaney, accompanied by Mrs. Chaney and 14-year-old Homer Jr., will leave Wednesday to attend a four-day convention of the company at the Canadian pleasure resort.

Signal honor has been accorded Chaney in Smith's announcement that he has been chosen as the principal speaker for the final day of the convention, September 8. He will speak on the subject, "What Is Ahead For the New Agent?"

At the conclusion of the parley the family will make a motor trip through Glacier National Park before returning to Santa Ana.

May Write Hitler.

It was reported today that the government would address another warning to Germany tomorrow, by Sir Neville Henderson, pointing out the difficulty Great Britain would have in remaining neutral in any conflict that might arise from a German invasion of Czechoslovakia. It was reported also that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain might back up this declaration with a personal letter to Adolf Hitler.

Chamberlain returned from the country this morning and went to his official residence-office at No. 10 Downing street. Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, returned from a German invasion of Czechoslovakia. It was reported also that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain might back up this declaration with a personal letter to Adolf Hitler.

regarding conferences with Schultz lieutenants who wanted to move the lottery racket headquarters to that suburb when things became too hot for them in New York City.

"I told them I wasn't interested," Bateman said.

Hughes was called by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey in an effort to strengthen the prosecution's contention regarding alleged associations between Hines and Schultz.

Manager Racket

George Weinberg, who managed the lottery racket for Schultz, had testified previously that Hines went to Bridgeport in 1935 to see Schultz and accept a cut from $500 to $250 a week in the amount he allegedly was paid for arranging protection. And Dudley Brothwell, riding master at Fairfield, Conn., five miles from Bridgeport, had said that Hines visited his stables with Schultz on a Sunday in August, 1935.

Defense Counsel Lloyd P. Stryker questioned Hughes closely about the circumstances under which he saw Hines in the hotel.

Two Die Violent Deaths In S. D.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 29.—(UP)—Coroner's records disclosed today two persons died violent deaths during the weekend in San Diego county.

S. M. Marshall, 73, San Diego, received fatal injuries Sunday in an automobile accident near Alpine, 30 miles west of here.

Common Sense

It is only common sense for a judge to administer his court with justice, equity, and economy hand in hand, fearlessly and impartially applied to rich and poor, high and low alike. By so doing, he attains the ideals of American democracy, of which the Court is cornerstone.

It is only common sense for the people to elect that kind of judge.

And once they have elected him, it is only common sense for them to keep him in their service.

Judge H. G. Ames has one of those common-sense records in Superior Court. More than fifty years residence in the county equips him for the common-sense appraisal of its problems as they come before his court. Thirty-five years in the law have trained and ripened mind and temperament. His twelve years on the bench have been a brilliant demonstration of judicial capacity.

nounced by Mr. Roosevelt as a "traitor" to the New Deal, seeks both Democratic and Republican nominations.

Regular Republican candidate is Allen W. Dulles. New Deal favorite is James H. Fay, seeking Democratic and American Labor Party nomination. Primary day is Sept. 20.

5. California candidates wound up their campaigns for nomination in tomorrow's primary. Mr. Roosevelt indirectly has supported the renomination candidacy of Sen. William G. McAdoo.

"Tells" Georgians

Immediate interest centers on tomorrow's South Carolina polling and the Labor Day offensive against Tydings. The President already has stated in detail to Georgia voters why he wants Sen. Walter F. George, another of the conservative group, retired to private life on primary day, Sept. 14. U. S. District Attorney Lawrence Camp is the New Deal candidate in Georgia.

The South Carolina situation changed unexpectedly over the week end when State Sen. Edgar A. Brown, seeking senatorial nomination as a New Dealer, retired from the contest. That left a two-man battle between Gov. Olin D. Johnston, the White House candidate, and the veteran conservative Cotton Old.

Divergent Ideals

"Voters of the state (South Carolina) now have their choice," Mr. Roosevelt told questioners, "between two candidates representing entirely different political schools of thought."

"One of these candidates thinks in terms of the past and governs his actions accordingly."

"The other thinks in terms of 1938 and 1948 and 1958 as well."

Mr. Roosevelt's invasion of Maryland will be in response to Farley's urging. Rep. David J. Lewis, an aging progressive who was proposing New Deal ideas long before Mr. Roosevelt became a major political figure, has White House endorsement against Tydings.

Mines Imperil U. S. Gunboat

There was growing concern in diplomatic quarters here lest another Panay incident occur.

The U. S. Gunboat Panay was sunk in the Yangtze above Nanking last December by Japanese airplanes. Japan accepted responsibility and paid indemnity.

For weeks now the Monocacy has been held three miles below Kui-kiang, more than 450 miles up the Yangtze, because of a Japanese blockade maintained most rigidly in the stretch above Wu-hu. The Japanese assert that the Yangtze is unsafe for navigation. They have been able themselves, however, to transport troops, supplies, civilians and cargoes, in warships and commercial vessels, up the river.

Inspect Defenses

For an hour, Hitler and his generals inspected the defense works on which, it has been reported here, hundreds of thousands of men, many drafted from other parts of the country, are working. After the inspection, Hitler and the generals left in the direction of Offenburg to the south and parallel to the frontier—and the bridge was reopened.

Hitler left in the direction of the Swiss frontier.

son, and the writing of the "Fool's Rush In" booklet, all are all closely related and perpetrated by the same parties.

"There are a dozen facts and circumstances," Menton declared, "in connection with the praise given to some candidates and attacks on others which should prove to fair-minded persons that the ratings given candidates are not due to their attacks on gambling or similar law violations. We know the pamphlets were not written or inspired by persons interested in the public welfare, for while the pamphlets contained true statements, they also contained statements that were utterly false and criminal libel besides."

"It has probably been suggested that I have evidence in my possession that I am not making public. However, it is reasonable to suppose that if I had sufficient evidence to make a charge, I would avail myself of the advantage to be gained by a solution of the case."

May Name Others

Hersch has promised to "put the finger on a least eight guards and higher-ups," probably at the instant Wednesday.

Gov. George H. Earle postponed a scheduled conference with Hersch andelfare Secret-Wary Charles L. Engard pending a "thorough and complete inquiry" into prison conditions at the time of the fatalities.

Hersch said that two experts from the state welfare department would make a scientific test of the "Klondike" cellblock.

Plan Experiment

"They will close all the windows and openings in 'Klondike' and will try to produce the same conditions which existed there last week end," the coroner said.

Hersch said inmates and guards told investigating officials that the "heat treatment" in the punishment cellblock was a "more or less standard" practice throughout the administration of Superintendent Mills.

Jim Sleeper Gets Gift and Ribbed; Mystery Unsolved

Assessor James Sleeper today was in a dither, and ribbing by his friends was rife. And the worst of it is that a "mystery" which suddenly descended on him personally this morning—and indirectly through his great friend, Postmaster James A. Farley, was unsolved at noon today.

The "mystery" was constituted by the contents of a little wooden box that bore the name of a nationally-known washing soap—presumably in sample size.

Sleeper's deputies gathered around, sensing something or other. The assessor lost little time in seeking out the contents, which was a woman's gold bracelet.

"Well, now, I'll be," Assessor Sleeper observed. "I'll have to check up with Mrs. Sleeper to see if she ordered any repairs on such a gadget."

"And if we had two like that, we'd handcuff you," his friends told him. Meanwhile, Sleeper is forgetting about tomorrow's primary election in an effort to unravel the enigma.

along a 100 mile rain-soaked front.

Japanese said that fighting was unusually severe in the Lushan mountains, about 20 miles south of Kukiang, in the vicinity of Kuling, where there were American and British refugees.

Military spokesmen for the Japanese attributed much of the Chinese resistance in the Lushan area to a women's corps in the front lines. They were said to be commanded by a female colonel in each division and their duties consisted of spying on the Chinese as well as the Japanese to learn whether any of the Chinese troops favored a surrender or retreat. Other duties included first aid work, washing and cooking, collecting arms and munitions strewn on the field after battles and to fight whenever necessary to remain attached to their assigned divisions regardless of the consequences.

Japanese estimated there were more than 13,000 trained women attached to the Chinese forces between Shaho and Hanchang, south of the Yangtze. The majority of them were said to be "hard boiled."

MAN PADDLES TINY BOAT TO CATALINA ISLAND IN 6 HOURS

FULLERTON, Aug. 29.—(UP)—Willard Edwards paddled from the shore to Catalina Island and back this week end in a kayak, making the trip, a distance of 22 miles, in nine hours, and the trip back, a distance of 35 miles, in one and a half hours. On the return he missed the land marks, and arrived at Huntington Beach instead of Seal Beach. His wife and three small children were waiting for him there.

Edwards has walked across the United States, visiting every state, just to see the country, and as a radio operator went around the world to earn college money.

Edwards was the first man to "navigate" the Santa Ana river in flood time 18 months ago. He is a member of the Fullerton Kayak club, sponsored by R. A. Marsden. He copied his kayak from a sea-going kayak imported from Alaska and canvas and canvas.

"Paddling a kayak takes about the same amount of energy as walking," he said. "It is about the same speed of travel, four miles an hour, but can be handled more rapidly if needed."

Police News

John Romero, 915 English street, complained to police at 4:50 p. m. yesterday that he was struck in the mouth by the fist of Lupe Claudio, 902 Logan, while they were at a Logan street cafe.

Romero alleged Claudio was intoxicated but the officers reported they found him sober. "I hit him because he was going to hit me with a blackjack," Claudio told the officers. The officers could find no blackjack but advised Romero he could sign a complaint against Claudio if he wished.

George Underwood, 1604 West Fourth, told police yesterday a "Flyer" bicycle belonging to Robert Harmon, same address, was stolen between 3 and 5 p. m. yesterday from Fourth and Birch streets.

ACTION IN CASE AGAINST EARLE SET FOR FALL

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—The long fight between Pennsylvania's "little New Deal" administration and the courts over what agency has prior authority to investigate graft charges against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 other Democratic leaders has been suspended for at least a month.

May Effect Elections

Outcome of the controversy, now before the state Supreme Court for the third time, may have a vital effect on the November elections, most political observers believe.

Earle, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator against the veteran Republican incumbent, James J. Davis, contends the G.O.P. strategy is to have a Dauphin county grand jury indict the Democrats just before the November 8 balloting.

Chief Justice John W. Kephart ruled that the grand jury inquiry, which Earle attempted to sidetrack through special legislation passed by the Democratic-controlled general assembly until a house committee completed a public airing of charges of political coercion, extortion, blackmail and conspiracy to defraud the commonwealth, must be held in abeyance until the jurist can convene the state Supreme Court and determine appeals vital to the settlement of the controversy.

Evidence Demanded

At the same time Justice Kephart said it would be "useless" for the house committee of five Democrats and two Republicans to continue its efforts to bring evidence into the open, which Earle demanded in convening the legislature in special session to "repel an unprecedented judicial invasion of the executive and legislative branches of the state government."

Kephart, one of the six Republican justices of the seven comprising the high court, admittedly made it useless for the committee to continue by refusing to disturb a Dauphin county court order impounding for the grand jury evidence held by headliners on the committee's list of prospective witnesses.

Strangely, the impounding order was issued by a Democrat, Berks county common pleas Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, whom the Supreme Court assigned to the case when

POLICE SEARCH FOR L.A. YOUTH

One Santa Ana youth was being sought today as a missing person, an Anaheim boy, missing since August 12, was located in Chicago Saturday, and a half a dozen other persons, reported missing, were returned home safely, sheriff's office reports today revealed.

Frank Hertzberg, 21, Santa Ana engraver and sign painter of 507 East Walnut, disappeared from home August 16, his father, Ed Hertzberg, reported. Hertzberg, six feet, two inches tall, weighing 175 pounds, having blue eyes and curly brown hair, left home driving a gunmetal colored Pontiac car, license 5-X-1186. It is believed he may have gone to Iowa or Kansas.

George Morris Jr., 16, Anaheim, was held by Chicago police Saturday night when he sought to sell the family car as he was in need of cash, official reports show. Young Morris prepared for a hunting and fishing trip when he left home with the car but apparently the wanderlust carried him farther than he planned. His father will bring him home, officers said.

Wendell Merck, 12, and Kenneth Merck, 7, 122½ South Flower, Brea, was picked up Saturday while hitch-hiking west of Peralta, identified and returned home by Deputy Sheriffs Harvey Gulick and Frank Cagle. Jewel and Marvin Flynn, Yorba Linda, picked them up. The boys said they were en route to Riverside on an adventure.

Several persons, on week-end vacations, were reported missing but later appeared at their homes. They had been extending their vacations longer than expected.

RAT CATCHER GOES TO SEA

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—"Henry the Cat," employed by the Standard Oil company to keep its dock at Port Richmond free of rats made a dash for one on the tanker R. J. Hanrahan. Before the rat could be dispatched the tanker had set sail for Baltimore. The cat recently returned from Australia as the result of much the same kind of adventure.

The three Republican judges of Dauphin county asked to be relieved because of Earle's publicized criticism of their actions.

Court Convenes Sept. 26

Schaeffer, subject also to the governor's criticism, held the legislature lacked authority to interfere with the grand jury proceedings which were authorized before Earle called the legislature into special session June 25. The jury of 11 Democrats and 11 Republicans was dismissed until Sept. 19, Supreme Court convenes Sept. 26.

The Democratic jurist denied the attorney general's petition to replace the Dauphin county district attorney as prosecutor in the grand jury investigation under an act of the special legislature. The attorney general, Guy K. Bard, was appointed by the governor to replace the Earle administration's principal accuser.

Earle dismissed former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti for refusing to turn over evidence in support of his primary campaign charges against Democratic leaders. Margiotti lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at the May 17 primaries to Charles Alvin Jones, Earle's running-mate.

Charges by Margiotti speeches that three members of Margiotti charged in campaign Earle's cabinet and the state finance chairman of the Democratic party collected for political purposes $50,000, conditioned on enactment of a beer law by the 1935 legislature, although Republican controlled the senate at that session. He charged they "sold" the 1935 Sunday movie legalizing act for $100,000.

HUNCHBACKS THROUGH LOOT

LOS GATOS, Cal. (UP)—Richard Leibfritz, local storekeeper, has become a complete skeptic when it comes to hunchbacks. It developed that the "hunch" on one hunchback who left his store last year was a stolen shirt from his customers and this year investigation of a similar "hunchback" whom he saw walking out developed that the "hunch" was a pair of stolen trousers.

PET TALKS BY MRS. T. J. NEAL

The hunting dog in the field plays a major part in game conservation. His unerring retrieve will bring the wounded birds which the hunter often does not realize have been hit. California quail are very adept at concealing themselves when brought down with a broken wing or slight wound. The pity of it is that these poor birds remain hidden from the hunter only to die a lingering death or finally become the prey of some mountain animal. With a good dog, you not only have a grand hunting companion, but you secure more shooting over a smaller area; and you will bag practically every bird you hit. Paradoxically as it may seem, you actually bring more birds home, yet you kill fewer.

In the lower brackets, among those who filed on form 1040-A, which covers the usual type person with income less than $6000, derived chiefly from wages, or salaries, 35 in California said they made between $7000 and $10,000, and of these, not one came from Santa Ana. The department explained that many persons who really should have filed on 1040 had filed on 1040-A, and listed them in that classification.

In Santa Ana, 304 residents filed on this lower bracket form, and were included in the 1008 returns filed by all of Orange county. Largest group in the Santa Ana classification were those who said they made between $1000 and $1500, and next largest were those claiming income between $3000 and $4000, the report showing 129 re-

Driver Jailed On Drunk Charge

Found at Rose drive and Imperial highway on the roadway, assertedly wrestling and arguing with his wife over driving of the family car, Robert Reyes was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Harvey Gulick and Frank Cagle yesterday and jailed here on a drunk charge. FIGURES ON S. A. INCOMES IN 1934 REVEALED BY TREASURY

At least one person in Santa Ana managed to get along well enough through the midst of the depression, it appeared today as the Treasury Department completed a compilation of 1934 income tax returns showing that one Santa Ana resident had reported an income in excess of $25,000 for that year.

The compilation is the first of its kind ever attempted by the treasury and internal revenue bureau and is confined to reports submitted in 1935 on income derived during 1934, because the government experts have been unable so far to analyze the mass of data submitted for later years.

According to the figures for 1934, it appears that not only did one Santa Ana resident report an income in excess of $25,000, but 18 others told the government they made between $10,000 and $25,000 during that generally unhappy year. These persons filed their reports on form 1040, required for net incomes from salaries of more than $5000 and incomes from business professions, rents or sale of property. In Santa Ana, 1065 persons filed such reports, 73 stating their net taxable income was less than $1000; 194 claiming not more than $4000 incomes, 112 with not more than $7000 and 35 who said $10,000 was the top figure they earned or otherwise received during the year.

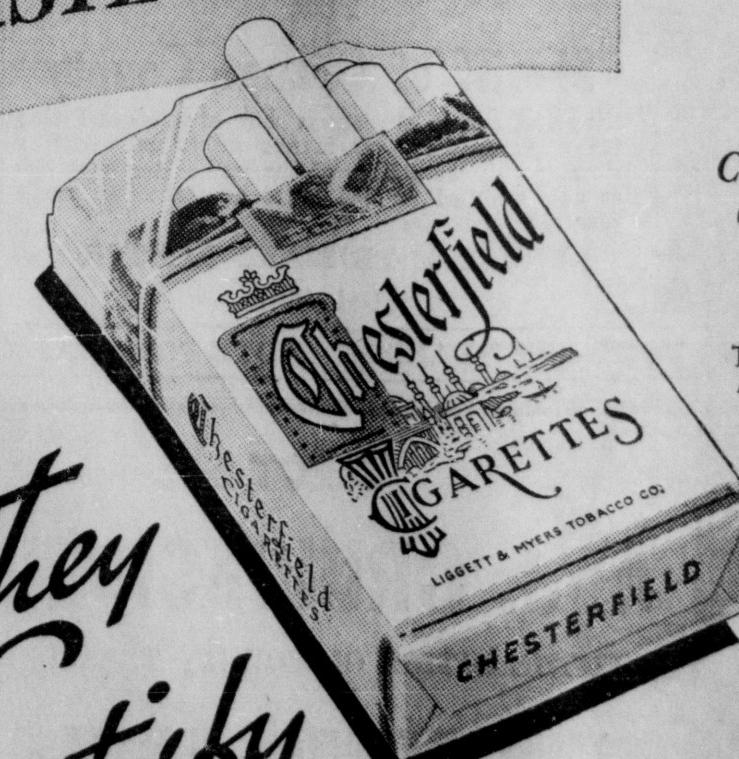

In the lower brackets, among those who filed on form 1040-A, which covers the usual type person with income less than $6000, derived chiefly from wages, or salaries, 35 in California said they made between $7000 and $10,000, and of these, not one came from Santa Ana. The department explained that many persons who really should have filed on 1040 had filed on 1040-A, and listed them in that classification.

In Santa Ana, 304 residents filed on this lower bracket form, and were included in the 1008 returns filed by all of Orange county. Largest group in the Santa Ana classification were those who said they made between $1000 and $1500, and next largest were those claiming income between $3000 and $4000, the report showing 129 re-

OVERLAND AIR ROUTE TO FAR EAST IS URGED

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—The disappearance of the Hawaiian clipper on its 7000-mile trans-oceanic flight from San Francisco to Manila has renewed speculation regarding the feasibility of an all-land route from the United States to the Far East.

Although refusing any official comment as to the merits of such a route, most government experts consulted agreed the subject is one that deserves serious consideration.

Roosevelt National Forest Blazing Inferno

Beginning with a spark from an overheated stove in a miner's cabin, a raging forest fire developed in Roosevelt National Forest, 50 miles northwest of Denver, Colo. The airview above shows the giant cloud of smoke arising from the fire. Five hundred men, including C.C.C. boys and volunteers, battled the blaze. Only a favorable wind saved the nearby town of Tollan. Persons on the Capitol dome in Denver could see and smell the smoke.

A land route would involve great er distances than a course over the ocean, but at the same time important cities may be included in the schedule that cannot be touched in an ocean crossing.

Two Major Routes

There are two major routes to the Far East which most observers believe would receive primary consideration in any plans to establish a United States-to-the-Orient ("overland" air lane).

The first follows roughly the course taken by the army fliers in their round-the-world flight. This section of the flight began at Seattle, Wash., continued northward up the Pacific coast to Prince Rupert, British Columbia, extended to Sitka and Seward, Alaska, followed the Aleutian Island chain into mid-Pacific, crossed Kamchatka peninsula, and turned south across the Kurile Islands to Japan proper and thence to Shanghai.

Shorter Hops Possible

Although at no time were the planes forced to fly over large expanses of water, it would be possible to plot a commercial route that would require even shorter water hops and at the same time include important cities without extending the course.

For example, it is suggested the commercial airliner might start at San Francisco or Seattle, continue northeast to Seward and along the Aleutian Island chain to Attu, hop across a short water distance to the Russian city of Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula, down to the important Japanese industrial center of Kobe and across the East China Sea to Manilla.

Distance of 8000 Miles
The total distance of this route would be about 8000 miles, compared with 7000-mile sea route the Hawaii Clipper followed from San Francisco to Manilla. This leg would be about 800 miles.

The major disadvantage to this route is the fact that stormy weather is often encountered in the northern part of Japan and along the Aleutians. Although planes might be able to reach a suitable landing place in time to avoid trouble, the frequency of the storms might result in long delays.

Weather Bureau experts and officials of other government agencies familiar with meteorological conditions in the Pacific area assert the territory to the north is beyond the sphere of most of these storms. This includes the southern portions of Alaska and Siberia, parts of which have been traversed by Post, Hughes, Lindbergh and others.

Water Legs Shortened

A route over this area would exclude virtually all over water trips. The course would be longer, but a number of important cities could be included.

Such a route might begin at New York City, and extend across part of the United States and Canada to Fairbanks, in the interior of Alaska. This leg would total about 3300 miles, but it could be broken into shorter hops with stops at important cities along the way.

From Fairbanks the route could continue through the central portion of Alaska with a short water hop of less than 50 miles across the Bering Strait to Siberia. Skirting the Gulf of Anadyr, the route would continue to Okhotsk, on the rim of the sea of the same name. This leg would cover about 2000 miles, with possible stops en route.

Might Include Peiping

From Okhotsk the course perhaps would turn northward to Peiping, China, a journey of about 1500 miles. Nanking is a short 500 miles to the west. From there the route would lead to Manilla, another 1000 miles away. Only about 300 miles of this leg would need to be over water, and this could be broken up into two relatively short water trips by flying over the Japanese island of Formosa.

Such a route would not involve a distance of more than 5500 miles. Many other possible variations of this route would be possible, of course, without necessitating the traveling over large ocean or substantially increasing the total distance. For example, the leg between Okhotsk and Peiping could include a stop at the important Soviet city of Vladivostok, which is a relatively short distance east of Peiping.

YOUTH CROSSES PANAMA WILDS

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Oliver Pearson, young Swarthmore college graduate, has returned to the Academy of Natural Sciences at Philadelphia with a large collection of wild life he gathered during a hazardous six-months field trip in southwestern Panama.

Rarely visited by white men, Mount Pirre, when Balboa first looked upon the Pacific ocean 425 years ago, was the base for Pearson's studies of animal habits and his collection of small mammals, wild peccaries and pumas. He was forced to return to civilization by a leg infestation. An Indian woman eventually cured the infection with a native salve.

Highlight of his Panama trip was an 11-day voyage of 400 miles in a native dugout canoe down the west coast to a small town on the border of Columbia. The cruise was made with a crew of natives who navigated entirely by a box compass and memory, though at times 120 miles from land.

On the return trip, the water supply went bad and a freighter was hailed for help.

Pearson was able to collect rare opossums and weasels by trading safety pins, soap and cheap mouth organs for them.

The trip was Pearson's second Panama venture. Last year he accompanied Dr. Robert K. Enders of Swarthmore college on another Academy expedition to Chiriqui. Pearson was graduated from Swarthmore in 1937 and is associated with the academy's department of mammals.

The British Museum is still London's most popular "sight," having approximately 1,200,000 visitors annually.

WORK STARTS ON NEW BASE

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Workmen have begun the rebuilding of Scott Field, wartime aviation training base seven miles southwest of here, to care for the General Army Air Force headquarters which will be transferred from Langley Field, Va.

The work is financed by a $500,000 appropriation from the Public Works Administration for the wrecking of the present buildings and the construction of hangars, runways, service buildings, barracks for 330 enlisted men and quarters for 247 commissioned officers. There will also be quarters for 32 non-commissioned officers.

Other buildings also have been planned but not yet authorized. The work is expected to be completed within a year.

With the headquarters of Major-General Frank M. Andrews, commanding general of the air corps, stationed here, Scott Field will be the key point in the United States air defense. About 35 members of the headquarters staff, 200 men and 20 planes will be moved to the field.

Transference of air headquarters to Scott Field was prompted by both administrative and strategic considerations, according to Major Walter T. Meyer, present adjutant at the field.

Although most of the Army's air force will remain at Riverside, Calif., Langley, Va., and Shreveport, La., the headquarters will be in the center of the United States. This factor will enable the commanding general to reach all units of his command more quickly. The West Coast could be reached easily in one day from here, while it required nearly two days to make the jump from Langley Field.

The air force headquarters here will be within three hours of Detroit, five hours of New Orleans and five hours of New York. The entire air defense of the country will be planned from here, including plans for air development in war and peace and the arrangement of maneuvers and war games, along with the supervision of the air corps personnel and equipment.

LAST WORD

This is my final word to the voters of Orange county in this primary campaign.

During the preceding weeks I have at various times published my messages to the electorate, seeking to assist it in arriving at an appraisal of my candidacy.

I have tried to be fair and reasonable in my statements, to give the people information that might aid them in reaching a decision. I have hoped, of course, that their decision would be in my favor. But I have not tried to influence it by going outside of the record.

I have kept to the record because, in my opinion, the record is the only really informative factor in any choice among candidates.

I am going to state my record again, briefly.

I am an ATTORNEY who has practiced in both state and federal courts. For 13½ years I have been judge of the county's most active court, a longer period on the bench than has been served by any other candidate for Superior court in this campaign.

In the 8½ years since my court was raised to higher jurisdiction, I have made decisions in 3800 cases. And I have had but 15 reversals. I submit that record.

In closing my campaign, I wish to say that I hold my opponents in respect, and now take pleasure in complimenting them on the clean and straight-forward campaign they have conducted.

TOMORROW IT WILL NOT BE THE JUDGE WHO DECIDES. IT WILL BE THE PEOPLE.

PIONEER CAPISTRANO RANCHER URGES ELECTION OF CULBERT L. OLSON, GOVERNOR, and RE-ELECTION OF CONGRESSMAN HARRY R. SHEPPARD

To My Neighbors and Friends:

I want to ask for your active support and endorsement of two good friends of mine, who have proven their honesty and sincerity as faithful servants of the people. They are the type of men who are all too scarce, and must not be released from the responsibilities of public service.

I ask you to elect and promote State Senator Culbert L. Olson to the position of Governor of California. I feel certain that Mr. Olson is qualified in every way, by training and experience, to discharge the important duties of this high office in this crucial hour.

I ask you to re-elect Harry R. Sheppard as our Congressman to continue the splendid work that he is doing for the 19th District. Let us give him the greatest vote of confidence that has ever been accorded any representative from this State.

I am not asking, nor do I expect, any position or emolument of any kind through the success of these candidates. I am not seeking for power, but we have an obligation to our people that we cannot evade. American citizens will not go hungry—very long. We must have strong resourceful men at the helm of our public affairs, or we are sunk.

FARM TENANCY TO LOSE BULGE

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government farm lending agencies estimated today that they have slowed down the increase in farm tenancy by more than 50 per cent during the past year.

The Farm Security administration, through Federal Land banks, and the Farm Security administration plan to lend farmers approximately $75,000,000 in the fiscal year which began July 1 to make down payments on 25,000 farms.

Department of agriculture surveys showed tenancy increased by 40,000 a year between 1933 and 1935. Officials said the number was about the same in 1933 and 1937. They estimated 43 out of every 100 farmers till land in which they have no equity.

Aid to Nearly 2000

The Farm Credit administration—the farm counterpart of the city Federal Housing administration—reported it is helping nearly 2000 $12,000,000.

WHAT DOES THE RECORD SAY?

To the people:

In the campaign just closing, I have presented my record to the people of Orange county, because I believe that to be the honest way to seek office. It is the only way in which a candidate's qualifications can be measured.

Any honest candidate will submit his record, rather than claims, promise or accusations.

The record is especially important in choosing a sheriff. The county must know the candidate's attitude toward law enforcement in general and, just now, toward the gamblers in particular.

What, then is the record? How many arrests has he averaged? How many gambling devices has he seized? With whom is he allied in the campaign?

The county must know how he will meet such crises as riot, flood and earthquake. What is his record? Or has he any record? Who, then, knows what he will do in an emergency, when responsibility rests squarely upon him alone?

Has he the business ability to administer so large an establishment as the sheriff's office and county jail, economically and with profit to the county? If he has no record, then who knows?

Promises, or statements of generalities, may be made to sound impressive, but there is no meat in them, and they make a poor substitute for the record, being likely to leave the public unsatisfied as to the candidate's willingness and ability to perform as well as he can promise.

That is why I present my record. It is a record covering all of the matters referred to, all of which have happened in this county, and at least some of which are sure to happen again, which makes their consideration pertinent.

I pledge that, if re-elected sheriff, I will continue to enforce the law and preserve order. But you must look to my record to inform yourself whether I am likely to keep that promise.

I pledge unceasing and relentless opposition to the gambling interests. My record must be your guide in judging whether I will perform what I promise.

You already know that record. Your own officially authorized investigators, the grand juries, have examined it year after year, and have given you their unbiased, impartial report. It has been observed and reported to you, also, by other unbiased sources, such as the attorney general of the state of California.

What I say about my record matters nothing. What my opponents say about it matters nothing. I would like to help my own cause. They would like to hurt it. But there has been made available to you exact and authentic information on the record, which, in justice to yourself, you should study.

With this final message, I leave my case in your hands, content to abide by your decision, whatever it may be.

YOUTH BUILDS MIDGET PLANE

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Vincent Lindberg, 25-year-old mechanic, after only two years of studying airplane design and construction, has built the smallest, the most compact yet conventional plane ever seen at the Lambert-St. Louis flying field.

The ship weighs less than 800 pounds altogether. It has an upper wing spread of 13 feet and a lower wing spread of 12 feet. And what is most important—it flies.

Lindberg said the ship is the product of two years of hard work and study. He said he started out with the idea of designing a diminutive plane that would really fly and bent all his efforts toward that end.

He joined the Missouri national guard and learned to fly. All his leisure time was spent in haunting the hangars at the airport. Gradually the bantam ship took form in a garage near his home.

The plane is power by a 125-horsepower Warner motor. So small that in the cockpit Lindberg's legs are almost under his chin, the ship cost more than $1000 to build.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Much fuss was made about seeing both hands of even an outfielder handcuffed by a line drive! The Cleveland catches cannot be for lost sight of during the World War were catches from an airplane the altimeter of which recorded more than 770 feet. You have this from a man who helped arrange the show, Wayne K. Otto, the Chicago baseball writer. Otto was one of a committee who sought to enter flying cadets at Kelly Field in South Antonio in 1918.

Those who caught the balls were George Lange Kelly, who was to become quite a first baseman with the New York Giants, and Michael Angelo Bessolo, a semi-professional player of Southern California.

Semi-Pro Snags 778-Foot Ball With Infelder's Mitt
It was windy that afternoon, but Kelly caught his ball with a first basemen's mitt, with the altimeter at 778 feet," testifies Otto. "And Bessolo made a back of the neck catch of his with nothing more than an infelder's glove."

"Height doesn't make much difference if there are no indeterminant air current and you can follow the ball," says Muddy Ruel, the Chicago White Sox coach who dropped just two foul balls in 20 years of catching. "Air acts as a cushion for the ball."

Halford and Pytlak made the 708-foot catches in Cleveland look ridiculously easy. As a matter of fact, Halford, the third-string Indian backstop, made a one-handed catch of his ball. The pellet bounced out of his glove, and he grabbed it with both hands.

The veteran coach, Johnny Bassler, believes that he would have snagged the first ball tossed had he not feared stumbling over a hedge in Cleveland's Public Square.

Ball Falls to Handcuff Hank Held's Gloved Hand
Savants figured that the balls in Cleveland were traveling 138 miles an hour, or 22 feet a second, when they reached street level.

Yet that ball speared by Halford did not even hand cuff his gloved hand.

The Bells of St. Mary's rang out today for a couple of Santa Ana athletes—Joe Crawford and Jack McClure.

Both are officially enrolled in St. Mary's college at Moraga. I'm not sure but I think they are the first Dons to join the Gallloping Gaels.

Crawford, 198 pounds, made the all-Southern California Junior College team last year. He was a guard and a good one, especially on the defense.

"Slip" Madigan personally did the contact work on Crawford. The other colleges seemed to have overlooked the burly lineman in their semi-windup.

Contending for admission to the Southern California softball tournament at Wrigley field Sept. 6-12, four Santa Ana City league teams begin a whirlwind elimination series tonight at the Municipal Bowl. No admission will be charged.

The first game (at 7:30) brings together Alliance Mutual Life and Treesweet Products. Alliance Mutual Life finished third behind the Elks and Elitists in seasonal percentage and therefore was seeded first as neither the No. 1 Elks nor No. 2 Elitists entered the tournament play-off.

The second game (at about 8:30) matches Montgomery Ward which was seeded second, and M. E. South.

Both contests will be seven innings except in case of a tie.

Regular City league umpires will work the games and City league eligibility rules will apply. No club can use a player unless he is prepared on the official roster by August 1. The latter is a rule of the Southern California tournament.

HUNTINGTON BEACH IS 1-FAVORITE

Playing at Colton, Huntington Beach and San Bernardino launch a four-cut-of-seven game series tonight for the Southern California association night ball champion-

Although Joe Rodgers' Oilers are 3-1 favorites, San Bernardino is expected to give the Orange county club better opposition than Anaheim, which Huntington Beach eliminated in four straight games in the Shaughnessy semi-finals.

San Bernardino advanced at the expense of Santa Ana, 4-1.

The second game Wednesday night also will be played at Colton. Friday's game probably will be shifted to Santa Ana's Bowl.

To determine where the first game of the Huntington Beach-San Bernardino championship night ball game would be played, Managers Joe Rodgers and "Red" Andrews flipped a coin.

Rodgers, representing Huntington Beach, won the toss. He then elected to play the first game at Colton, which is San Bernardino's home field.

Sudden thought: Why did the boys flip?

The racing fraternity is chuckling over a gag pulled on a well known North Main street restaurateur.

Seems that last Friday a well-dressed stranger walked into the cafe with a smallish man who wore goggles, jockey's boots and spurs.

The little fellow was introduced all around as "George Woolf". (Seabiscuit's rider, now under suspension in California.)

After some discussion, "Woolf" agreed to give the cafe boys a "hot horse" in return for $50 which "Woolf" was to use to place a bet for himself. The restaurant man ell, "phoned his friends to contribute to the pot and paid off "Woolf."

"Now," breathed the boys, "Give us that horse, George."

The lads all bent close.

"Southern Belle," whispered "Woolf."

After "Woolf" departed, the boys chucked it in. I'm reliably informed that Santa Ana bookmakers alone handled better than $600 on Southern Belle Friday.

P. S.—Southern Belle ran out of DOTS SO:

Vernon Worden Orange's all-around trackman is definitely entering Santa Ana Jaysee. He will go out for track and basketball. He excelled in both sports in high school . . . Norman Burbridge is not returning to Santa Ana Jaysee but will take a post graduate course at Orange . . .

The two White boys, Bob and Bill of Excelsior, are reported to be signed and sealed for the Dons.

The draw for opponents and order of the matches will be held Friday noon.

ROGER KELLY AGAIN AMATEUR CHAMPION

DEL MONTE (UP)—Precedent was shattered today as the California state amateur golf trophy went south for the second straight year.

But McCalahan, trailing seven down at the 18-hole mark, refused to crack his pal Palacio had the year before and the San Francisco can carried the match to the 29th green before he succumbed before Kelly's tremendous power.

The champion, who played under a handicap of grief occasioned by the sudden death of his cousin Patricia Kelly in a Los Angeles auto accident, compiled an amazing set of figures for a course America's best golfers consider among the most difficult. In yesterday's final Kelly was three under par for the first 18. For the tournament, from the opening to qualifying play, in which he won the medal, he was only four strokes over par for the 142 holes he played.

The women's Del Monte tournament provided a surprise finish with Barbara Beach Thompson of Los Altos defeating Mrs. R. S. Morimoto, Stockton, 3 and 1 in the finals.

LIONETTES LAUNCH FINAL WEEK DRIVE

Bemis' To Meet Hoiles' In Father-Son Golf

Out in front by a full game, the Orange Lionettes start their final round drive tonight against the Santa Ana Country club at the Orange city park at 8:15.

These same two teams met last week at Orange and for five hours the soft drink was 8-5 in favor of Orange. Wednesday night the Lionettes clash with Young's Market Maids on the Orange diamond and Friday night they travel to Fleder Fairfax for a crucial encounter with the Bank of America girls.

Figures Reveal How Yankees Win Games

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—You want to know? why the Yankees win ball games? Well, all you have to do is pick up the current American league club batting records and you'll see.

But at first glance you won't Misleading is the Yanks' batting average of .280 which places them in fifth place. The Red Sox are hitting .284, the Senators .291, the Browns .288, and the Indians .281.

In extra base hits, runs and runs batted in the Yanks are supreme. They've hit 140 homers, 32 more than Detroit, their nearest rival. They've scored 784 runs, 134 more than the Red Sox. They've driven in 722 runs, 114 more than the Red Sox. In total extra base hits they've amped 1137 bases, 167 more than the Indians.

Yesterday the Yanks gave a good illustration of how extra base power wins ball games. They made just four hits but those four hits included two home runs and a double and were enough to beat the Browns, who made 12 hits, 4-2.

Although he gave up 12 hits "Red" Ruffing pulled through to score his 19th victory, more than any other major league pitcher this season. The triumph combined with the Red Sox's defeat by the Tigers lengthened the Yanks' lead to 18 games, longest this season.

Hank Greenberg's 45th homer and Rudy York's 29th tied the score 3-3 in the Tigers-Red Sox game and enabled Detroit to pull through to a 4-3 victory in 10 innings. Greenberg's homer put him nine games out in front by a full game, the Orange Lionettes start their final round drive tonight against the Santa Ana Country club at the Orange city park at 8:15.

They play for the championship Wednesday afternoon.

Lawrence and "Buck" Bemis eliminated Ed Gould and E. Gould Jr. in last week's semi-finals, thereby qualifying to meet R. C. and Clarence Hoiles, who defeated Hugh and Bill Lowe.

Individual match play winners Saturday: Wayne Harrison, two up; Manley Nelson, one up; Mason Youell and R. A. Emison, even.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET

WINTERSBURG, Aug. 29.—Attending a meeting for young people at the First Methodist church in Long Beach recently were the Misses Alice and Bettie Slater, Naomi Stinson, Andrea Gardner, Virginia Greenwood, Dorothy Murdy, Bob Gergner of the older group of younger people, and Isabelle Tucker, Maxine Murdy, Bruce Tanner, Jimmie Stinson of the younger group with the Rev. George Quayle, Mrs. W. F. Slater and Mrs. Carl Bergner furnishing transportation and also attending the session.

Eleventh hour attacks by the Courthouse Political Ring, through Stodges, is in keeping with their effort to frame Supervisor N. E. West before the Grand Jury; the Eden Oil Scandal; and the scurrilous anonymous pamphlet "WHERE FOOLS RUSH IN"—

$500 REWARD FOR ONE, W. OSCAR WILSON, (discharged from County Weed Crew for Cause) if he can disprove fact that last minute advertisements, appearing in County newspapers and attacking Supervisor West's record by cheap insinuations, were not written and paid for by members of the County Ring or their puppets.

$500 ADDITIONAL REWARD if said W. Oscar Wilson can disprove one claim or statement made by N. E. West in political advertising. West's record as Supervisor speaks for itself. It has been made in spite of Courthouse political Racketeers and their pickpocket policies.

This dwindling but desperate Courthouse clique is bent on NAMING AND CONTROLLING THE NEXT SUPERVISOR from the Fifth District, and they don't mean N. E. West.

If the taxpayers of this district wish honest and courageous representation on the Board of Supervisors, they cannot accept the dictation of Santa Ana politicians. The "Big Happy Family" at the Courthouse is not happy with a Supervisor who will not rubber stamp their wishes.

STAND BY THOSE OFFICIALS WHO HAVE STOOD BY YOU. RE-ELECT SUPERVISOR N. E. WEST. HE'S NO RUBBER STAMP!

POLICE RADIO

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 29.—As part of the modernization of the local police force equipment, two-way radio service will be installed in the new police car, bids for which will be opened on September 7.

The new equipment will link San Clemente with Oceanside on the south and Newport Beach to the north. Present radio equipment, being receiving, or one-way only, has somewhat hampered police work, especially in handling police blockade, co-operation with highway patrol cars, etc.

For many years, San Clemente has been a vital "bottle-neck" spot on the highway, due to the long stretch of highway to north and south, with virtually no side-roads or means of egress inland. Many important arrests have been effected by immigration, customs, highway and other U. S. and state agencies on the section of Highway 101 in which San Clemente occupies a strategic point.

Grund Made Head Of Booster Event

BUENA PARK, Aug. 29.—At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Civic building, Rudolph Grund was elected chairman of the booster celebration, which is to be held in Buena Park October 7, 8 and 9. The celebration is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, with all organizations of the city taking part.

Ernest Bradley will assist Grund. Other committee chairmen are Bill Cannon, barbecue; Kenneth Kenney, carnival; Karl Brenner, finance; Carl Snyder, horse show; Claude Allin, refreshments; Raylas Perry, field day events; Preston Owens, merchandise; Emmet Woods, soft ball games; Henry Legari, amateur program.

Stamp Group Meets Sept. 8

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 29.—Members of the Coast Philatelic Society will meet at Balboa September 8 at Wilson's cafe, Bay Front and Palm avenue. President George Higgins will have charge of the meeting and of special interest is the cover used to call the meeting.

Cacheted envelopes with the Tournament of Lights "Snow White" drawing are being used and all are postmarked with the Newport Beach, the Balboa and the Balboa Island postmarks. The envelopes were autographed by Miss Maurice Shipp, who took the part of "Snow White" in the recent important tournament.

The stamp collectors will hold their meeting following dinner, which will be served at 7 o'clock.

Heavy Machine Air-Shipped

OAKLAND, Cal. (UP)—All local records for heavy air shipments were broken when a 600-pound piece of mining machinery arrived here by plane from South Bend, Ind., and was placed aboard the clipper for Manila. It was to replace part of a broken down gold dredger in the Philippines which was causing a $7,500-a-day delay. The cost of the aerial transportation from South Bend to here was $2,500.

Those present were the Misses Margaret Coleman, Beth Francis, Betty Brooks, Anna Marie Grotz, Virginia Pafford, Dorothy Allen, Beth Kellams, Emily Bouchard, Barbara Gilbert, Rebecca Archer and Elizabeth Campbell.

HUNTINGTON BEACH TO STAGE BLACK GOLD DAYS CELEBRATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 29.—The city will celebrate the discovery of oil here with the annual Black Gold days celebration next Saturday, Sunday and Labor day. Between 50,000 and 75,000 visitors are expected to come here for the three-day celebration.

The celebration will begin with a dance in the new municipal dance pavilion on the ocean front Saturday night. A carnival center will be set up on Fifth street near the theater, according to arrangements being made by the city and chamber of commerce officials.

Aquatic sports, entertainment on the beach grand stand, beach races and other sports will provide fun for the visitors.

Thousands are expected for the convention of the California Retirement Old Age Pension plan and the Orange County Central Labor council picnic on Labor day.

LAGUNA PLAY DRAWS CROWD

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 29.—A capacity audience, the largest in several months, packed the Community theater Saturday night to witness the initial presentation of "House Party", comedy-drama by Kenneth Britton, staged by Frank Seward, and performed by a competent cast.

Barton Booth, in the principal role, was supported by James W. U. Nelson, Betty Shope, Frances English, Claude Weddle, Sally Kaye, Francis B. Morris and a complete cast of Laguna Beach players. The set, specially designed and executed, evoked much favorable comment.

The staging, lighting, and direction, under supervision of Mr. Seward, were especially effective. "House Party" will be given three more performances on September 2, 3 and 4.

New Owners For Hotel At Beach

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 29.—Change in ownership of the Hotel San Clemente was announced today when the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hale, of Anaheim, took over the lease from Mrs. Ethel Johnston, who for the past three years has managed the hotelery.

Mrs. Johnston, following a brief stay in Huntington Park, will leave for New York, where she is to reside. The new owners are well known in Anaheim, where they have other business interests; they will give personal supervision to Hotel San Clemente, which they have leased until 1944.

OIL MEN HOLD DINNER PARTY

LA HABRA, Aug. 29.—Honoring two of their number who are to retire September 1, the transportation department of the Standard Oil company entertained with a turkey dinner at the Woman's clubhouse Friday evening. The honored guests were Charles Daniels of East Whittier and E. W. Hutchins of La Habra. The affair was a surprise to the honorees and each was presented with a farewell gift from the group.

Sixty-five members of the department attended the dinner and guests of the group besides the honorees were T. J. Barnes of the home office in San Francisco; G. R. Mallory and Glenn Sherer of the transportation department in Los Angeles office; Walter Thompson of the producing department on the Murphy lease, and those members of this division already retired, including R. R. Winger, Bert Glazier, Al Parsons and Gus Middleton of La Habra; W. C. Stark of Pico, Charles Jacoby of Fullerton, Ira Robinson and W. M. Brown of Whittier.

William Sutherlin of the Murphy lease was toastmaster for the evening and entertainment was furnished by a Hawaiian quintet and dance numbers by pupils of Miss Grace Taylor of La Habra.

A STATEMENT OF FACT

OFFSETTING

FALSE PROPAGANDA

Concerning Mayor Dan Mulherron

An EXTRACT from the LONG BEACH TELEGRAM:

San Clemente, July 7, 1938

"Works Progress Administration at Washington has absolved the city and Mayor Dan Mulherron as well as everyone else interested in the city government here, from any claim that WPA funds and work were transferred from other projects to the City Hall here. At one time WPA had filed a claim for $400.00 refund from the city for the asserted transfer, but last night the City Council received official word from Washington that it was all a mistake and that no blame or liability attaches to either the Mayor or anyone else here."

The reason of Mr. Mulherron's resignation from WPA was because the manager for Orange Co. Area was discontinued, when Los Angeles Co. took over Orange Co. WPA.

COAST OPENS MARINE DRIVE

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—An intensive drive to obtain sufficient merchant marine on the Pacific coast to insure the carrying of all trade between the Pacific coast ports and the Latin American republics in American ships, has been launched by the newly created Institute of Pan-American affairs.

The campaign will be conducted in conjunction with the various foreign trade associations in the leading port cities of the Pacific coast as well as with shipping and export interests.

Pressure will be brought to bear upon the U. S. Maritime commission to provide the Pacific coast with ships that will permit the development of full trade relations with Latin America on the Pacific coast in the same manner as the service that will be established by the commission from New York to South America with the former Panama Pacific luxury liners.

the United States being swept from the seas as far as the carrying of its trade in American bottoms is concerned, but it is allowing a political element to creep in that is of the gravest importance.

"The United States, the richest nation in the world, armed with the most logical and workable foreign trade policies based upon reciprocal trade agreements," he said, "is being relegated into the background by totalitarian powers whose merchant marines are delivering the goods."

Nearby Markets Menaced

"Markets which have the second largest buying power in the world lie at the back door of the United States, pleading for American recognition. But they are being snatched away from the very grasp of American commerce to whom they rightfully belong by aggressive foreign nations which have had the vision to see that large, co-ordinated and efficient merchant fleets are their life blood."

Grenas believes that the creation of an adequate merchant marine on the Pacific coast for the carrying of trade to Latin American republics would do much to counteract the rapid infiltration of European lines and air services on the Atlantic side.

"With war in the Orient and political upheavals abroad," he said, "the Latin American markets are the only remaining peaceful frontiers left for American foreign commerce, if the latter is to survive."

OIL MEN URGED TO PLAN ANEW

TULSA, Okla.—(UP)—Conservation of the country's petroleum reserves through proration of well production, while effective, has at the same time lengthened the payout time of newly drilled wells. Thomas C. Frick, associate professor of petroleum engineering at the University of Tulsa, told an oil association meeting here.

Frick urged adoption by the petroleum industry of a new program "to stabilize development" of new fields. His tentative program listed several points, including: Curtailment of all unnecessary drilling.

Utilization of both old and new fields.

Necessity for development of some plan under which search for new areas could be carried on without throwing such areas into immediate production.

"In the KMA field of Wichita County, Tex., he said, "it will take at least three years to pay for the cost of drilling and completing the tests; and when depletion and other expenses are included, the time will be lengthened by an additional two or three years."

Under current proration programs, wells are held down to a fraction of their potential flow, conserving underground pools of oil, but at the same time cutting sharply the daily revenue from the wells. The average well, with a depth of 4,500 feet costs approximately $80,000 to drill alone.

Book Depression Ends In Australia

SYDNEY (UP)—Australia's complete recovery from the depression is shown in a remarkable manner in the report of the city librarian.

At the height of the depression in 1932 when people were borrowing books instead of buying them, the library lent 1,000,000 books during the year. But in 1937 when people resumed buying books instead of borrowing them, the library lent only 569,000 books.

HOLLYWOOD, August 29.—Idol Chatter: Luckily, Eleanor Powell's dancing isn't as stiff as her smile. Lew Ayres lives on the highest hill in Hollywood, and Ginger Rogers the second highest—but what a valley lies between! A chuckle from Anita Louise: She calls Hollywood comes nut-wits. Mickey Rooney always reminds me of a kid in my class who threw spitballs when teacher left the room. Why is it a full-grown man looks ridiculous when interviewing a child-star?

Hope Arleen Whelan never loses that wide-eyed expression—it's rare in this colony. Peas in a pod: Edward G. Robinson (now) and Leo Gorcey of the Dead End kids (thirty years from now). Wonder if Errol Flynn's refusal to patronize the studio's de luxe dining room is intended to prove his socialistic tendencies? Margaret Lindsay scored her first stage hit as "Cinderella"—but she's still looking for her prince. Horrible thought: Clark Gable with an ear-ache. I would love to see Mae West's expression when she spots Dorothy Lamour in the skin-tight sweater she wears in "Spawn of the North."

May Robson's insistence that she is well enough to continue a strenuous work schedule makes me think of Marie Dressler. Candidate for the least-changed-by-success title: Fred MacMurray. Studio sound men like everything about Barbara Stanwyck—except her habit of munching celery on the set. The expression "steel-grey eyes" still makes me think of William S. Hart. Today's philosophy: the real trouble with this industry is that too many pictures are framed in guilt.

Amusing but a bit whimsical is the story I heard today about a movie extra named Daugherty. As you probably know, extras get their

NEW TRIAL IS DENIED GIST

"Hats off to the women!" was the slogan of Santa Ana Breakfast club members today as they gathered speed and enthusiasm in preparing for their big Santiago Park open air breakfast meeting next Thursday.

The colorful event will be a "ladies' day" affair, said President Hale Barker today. He pointed out that plans are being made to make the breakfast as interesting to the women as to the men, and that their presence at the breakfast will be welcomed.

In addition to the six acts of vaudeville being arranged for entertainment, the women will have an opportunity to see their husbands get "ribbed," as well as to see them rib others, Barker said, explaining that this is a favorite diversion of the club.

"Everything is moving along swiftly and smoothly to make this one of the outstanding events of the year for the Breakfast club," he continued. "Committees are working enthusiastically and efficiently. Members who have been away will be welcomed back in a big way."

The event also will be open to the general public, Barker said. Tickets may be obtained at the Foster-Barker Music store, 303 North Broadway, at Straw Bros., 1609 North Main, and at Kenrok Press, 303 North Sycamore, Breakfast is at 7:30 a. m.

The program is being arranged by Vic Soper, Bob Andrews and

SOCIETY AND CLUBS / WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Loveliness Is Expressed By Wedding Rites

Lovely in every detail were the wedding rites which late Saturday afternoon, drew scores of guests to First Presbyterian church there to see the exchange of vows between two of the city's popular young people, Miss Betty Grover Hawk, daughter of the Chester E. Hawks, 524 West Santa Clara avenue, and Duncan McCall Harnois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harnois, 414 East Walnut street.

The wedding at 4:30 o'clock was given a particularly effective setting in the beautiful auditorium of the church, where mammoth white dahlias were attached to pew entrances, and nodded from tall baskets at either side of the altar with its central spray of white larkspur, all shining in soft candlelight. Music, too lent its beauty with Halstead McCormac at the organ to play various selections including the Wagner and Mendelssohn Wedding Marches, to accompany the soloist, Mrs. Ralph Hoard (Jeanne Baldwin).

Her songs were "Calm As the Night" (Bohm); "Ich Liebe Dich" (Grieg) and "Dedication" (Franz). Messrs. William Hawk, brother of the bride, Bruce Harnois and Russell Sullivan, brother and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Emmett Thompson ushered, and at the hour set for the wedding, it was their duty to lead the procession to the altar. All the men of the bridal party wore white.

As the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the church, entered from the vestry, followed by Mr. Harnois and his brother and best man, Preston Harnois, other members of the bridal party moved down the ribbon-decorated central aisle. The bride's three attendants were gowned alike in crisp dotted organdy frocks with short puffed sleeves and long ruffled skirts. They wore halo hats in quaint pokey-bonnet effect with long grosgrain ribbons. Mrs. Raymond Todd (Dora Tedford) and Mrs. Gordon McHattan (Iona DeRemer) expressed the rose tones in their frocks and the ribbons of their hats. Miss Marian Hawk as her sister's honor maid, followed the same style, but introduced a pale blue with frock and ribbons, and with the sprays of delphinium starring her arm clutched of Talisman roses.

The charming picture they formed was completed by the entry of the bride on her father's arm. Her gown was of white lace, its airy summer quality enhanced by a foundation of starched net. Her short, very full veil, fell from a halo of the tulle. A shower of snowy bouvardia and gauze ribbons fell from the white prayer book she carried, and which had first been carried by Miss Charlotte Harnois at her wedding to Russell Sullivan.

When the Rev. Mr. McFarland concluded the impressive double ring ceremony and the new Mr. and Mrs. Harnois left the altar, it was to be joined by their parents as well as members of the bridal party for an informal reception in the foyer. Mrs. Hawk wore a graceful gown of lace in reddish brown shades, and the senior Mrs. Harnois chose plum colored crepe. Both wore corsages of tuberous begonias.

When the newly wedded pair left for a northern California trip before going to Burbank to live, the bride wore a smart frock in Samoan red triple sheer with matching accessories. They will reach Burbank in time for Mr. Harnois to resume his teaching duties in the city schools. Both he and his bride are graduates of Santa Ana High school and Junior college and of Occidental College. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Kappa fraternities, and Mrs. Harnois is a member of Beta Phi Delta sorority.

Alaskan Travel Party Has Merry Reunion And Steak Dinner

Pleasant associations they had on a summer trip to Alaska were renewed last night by members of one of Julia Ann Hyde's travel parties when they met for a barbecue dinner out at the pleasant ranch home of Harry B. Handy at Villa Park.

The occasion coincided with the birthday anniversaries of two of the group, Carlton Smith and Master Edward Lee Smith III, who was one year old. Edward Lee and his parents, the E. Lee Smiths Jr., have been spending the past week with the Harveys.

Tables were spread beneath giant avocado trees near a big grill whose convenient features are of Mr. Handy's own design. A son of the host, Orville B. Handy, and Charles W. Hyde Jr., grilled the thick steaks, assisted by a young grandson of the home, Norman Handy. Miss Gladys Conley of Long Beach, a niece of the host, Mrs. Orville Handy and Mrs. Hyde, was spending the past week with Mrs. Ettie Kelly of the home in serving.

Two prettily decorated birthday cakes, one provided by Mrs. Hyde, the other by Mrs. Orville Handy, were in compliment to the approaching birthday anniversary of the host. They and other luscious cakes were served with ice cream.

After dinner, all the garden lights were turned off and Mrs. Hyde screened the colored motion pictures taken on the trip. A similar film taken by one of the members of the party, M. Sumter Black, of Huntington Park, also

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a lovely picture in the 44-year-old ivory satin gown made with cascade leg of mutton sleeves, paneled skirt piped in white velvet and velvet bows on the shoulders. A seed pearl coronet secured the finger-tip tulie veil.

Bride roses and lilies of the valley composed her bouquet, which was the same type as that carried by her mother as a bride.

Miss Hansen Fredricksen of Los Angeles, maid of honor, was dressed in chartreuse chiffon and her shower bouquet was of Talisman roses and physostigia. Mrs. Harold E. Rhodes of Santa Ana was her sister's matron of honor, and wore a sweet pea pink chiffon gown with shower bouquets of physostigia and pink roses. Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Goodrich and Miss Charlotte Hanlon, both of Los Angeles. Each wore orchid chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink pompon dahlias. All wore matching sprays of flowers in their hair. BETSY MEDLOCK of Santa Ana, flower girl, was dressed in yellow net with a wreath of corn flowers in her hair.

Paul Collins of Yorba Linda, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included Charles Webster of Los Angeles, Harold Rhodes of Santa Ana and Robert Baker and George Sloop Jr., of Anaheim.

"Your Song of Paradise" was played during the ceremony by Margaret Rogers, organist of the Garden Grove Methodist church. She also played the traditional wedding marches. A quartet composed of Clarence Rohrs, Alvin Rohrs, Howard Youel and Harold Sumter Black, Huntington Park:

There was a right and a wrong way to take a cathartic. The right way is to take the dose with at least two glasses of water. The wrong way, to swallow the dose with a gulp of water and let it go at that.

If the cathartic is in the form of a dried herb, less distress will be experienced if the dose is made into a tea (1 cupful of tea) and taken hot, followed by a glass of hot or cold water. Begin with the maximum dosage and each time it is taken cut down the amount of cathartic used, but not the water.

Present were the McBays and their son, Billie Bob; Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Tournat and son, Ivan; Worth Alexander and children Marjorie, Jim and Raymond; R. P. MINT FOR RENT IN CARSON CITY

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UP)—This city and San Francisco will soon have two things, at least, in common. Both are buildings which at one time housed the United States mints.

In this city, a two-story granite building, the home of the once common "C" dollars, stands, a "For Rent" sign on its door.

In San Francisco, a new mint, modern in every respect, has been constructed, and considerable speculation as to the future of the old mint building at Fifth and Mission streets there, has been aroused.

The old San Francisco mint is still used as a repository for silver purchased under the government's silver-purchasing program, since no arrangements to store the precious metal in the new building had been made.

However, vaults are now being constructed in the new mint and moving of the silver, which will take about four months of work will start shortly.

The Carson City mint, located on the principal street of the city, has been abandoned for a number of years. Its future is uncertain.

During "boom" days, millions of dollars worth of gold and silver coinage were produced at the mint and the "C" mark indicating the source of origin was very common. Now, however, these dollars are becoming rarer each day, although many are still in circulation.

When the mint equipment was abandoned, the building for a time was used as an assay office. Later the doors were locked.

Recently, however, an Ormsby county miner recovered considerable gold and silver through placer work in the mint's backyard.

The importance of salt as a medium of exchange was mentioned by Marco Polo in his report on the financial system of the Mongolian emperors in his time.

She wanted to go back to her Blue Grass; to hear the thud of pounding hoofs on the home stretch.

Illustration by E. H. GUNDER

CHAPTER I
"YOU may think I'm crazy," the girl was pleading to be understood, "but I'm not sure I want to take your offer."

The publisher's eyes narrowed. He said suavely, "Perhaps there's something else you want. Surely it isn't more money?"

"No," Linda Gordon shook her head. "And I do want to be staff writer on your magazine; it's a lifetime chance. But—"

The big man across the desk leaned forward. "But what?"

"It's hard to put in words"—she broke off; glanced out the opened window, across the roofs of Manhattan. Her gaze focused on something far above the skyline: an air dragon, emitting streamers of smoke—vapor which formed the name of a cigarette; also the name of a great horse which had won the Derby and the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

She wanted to go home! She was fed up with the fight and rush and loneliness of the city. She wanted to go back where people were neighborly—wanted to return to her Blue Grass; to hear the neigh of stallions; to see lovely brood mares walking with their foals. Wanted to—

The publisher rose slowly, but thought quickly.

"Our offer is open until 6 o'clock, Miss Gordon. We are putting the book to bed tonight; I'll be here until then. If you haven't decided"—he left the sentence unfinished; dismissed her with a curt nod. His manner implied she'd have to take it or leave it by that hour.

BACK in her little apartment on West 11th street, where for months she had dreamed of this chance, she upbraided herself harshly. "You fool!" she spoke.

At half-past 5 a special delivery letter was handed to her; a letter from old Uncle Sandy, who had been father and mother to her.

Twice she read his blurred script. Then slowly crumpled the paper in her hands. For a moment she sat still. Then fierce hatred burst inside her—hatred against circumstances; for that letter virtually called her home. Uncle Sandy was sick and in money trouble. He had no one else in the world to appeal to; she'd have to go to him—if there was a spark of decency in her.

"... matters at home... thank you! That's wonderful..."

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(UPI)—European war scares today brought heavy selling into stocks and sent prices down to the most severe decline since March 29.

Losses ranged to more than 5 points. At the day's lows around 5 mid-session, the industrial average was more than 4 points under yesterday's close. Thereafter a steady tone was noted. Volume slackened and some leaders came back.

Low stocks and bonds were down. Weakness was reported in Paris, Berlin, and Amsterdam.

At the New York opening trading was brisk. Chrysler opened 2,000 shares at $53 off 1½. Du Pont 130 off 4 and New York Central 18 off 3.

The losses were to more than 4 in Chrysler and more than 3 in U. S. Steel. For a time, selling was so fast the tickers fell behind.

Charging over-indulgence in intoxicating liquor among other things, John P. Landell today sued for a divorce from Marguerite Fuentes in Superior court. The couple, according to the petition, was married in Riverside on March 19, 1937 and separated March 1 of this year.

Objection to the appointment of Earl A. Miller as the guardian of Jose Fuentes, 89, was voiced today in a Superior court petition from Fuentes. The latter asserted that he is not receiving $50 a month in a pension set forth by Miller. Fuentes said he was receiving $25 from his former employer, and also $25 for his board, rent and laundry.

Further asserted his former employer had threatened to withdraw payments if Miller was named guardian.

Roy Mendoza today was appointed guardian of his son, Roy Mendoza, 18, according to a court order signed by Superior Judge James L. Allen. The appointment, according to information in other pleadings, was approved to expedite a lawsuit that was the outgrowth of a recent automobile accident.

LOWERING TARIFFS

In today's issue, there appears on this page an article written by Harley L. Lutz, Professor of Public Finance at Princeton University. He is discussing the subject of, "A Farm Plan Across the Sea." He practically recommends reduction of tariffs so that manufactured goods and raw materials can be shipped into this country without tariff in exchange for the farm crops so badly needed in other parts of the world.

In other words, he practically endorses free trade. The interesting part of this statement is that these articles are paid for by the Manufacturers' Association. They do not see them or tell the professors on what subject they shall write. And when they advise reduction of tariffs on what the manufacturers produce, we have strong evidence that these professors are not controlled and are writing what they believe will be for the general betterment of our people.

This newspaper is glad to be an agent in helping present sound economic problems, as usually seen by these professors. If you have not been reading them, you are missing something that will unquestionably benefit you.

DO YOUR OWN INTERPRETING

You can interpret the recent primary results almost any way you want to. If you are a New Dealer, you can find evidence of continuing support for the President. If you oppose this Administration, you can find evidence to prove that the tide is running away from the New Deal, and that the conservatives have the edge.

Nearer to the truth than either of these views, is the observation that the primaries have proven practically nothing. Maury Maverick, of the 100 per cent New Dealers, lost in Texas, by a very close vote, to a Democrat who is cool to some of the Administration policies. In Idaho, Sen. James Pope, one of the strongest New Dealers lost out to a luke-warm Democrat. In the Virginia primaries, more or less anti-New Deal Democrats won nomination. On the other hand, strong New Deal candidates swept the slate in West Virginia and Sen. Robert J. Bulkley was an easy winner in Ohio.

Generally regarded as most important was the bitter Kentucky primary, where Senate Majority Leader Barkley was given an extremely warm endorsement by the President, which is generally regarded as having turned the tide in his favor.

Summing up, the primaries indicate that the New Deal is managing to hold its territory, but by narrow margins in many instances. And the so-called Administration "purge" is not proving as successful as some anticipated. There are many more primaries to be heard from within the next few weeks, including our own California, and a better picture may be drawn later.

RELATIONS COMPLEX

The relation between states are, like everything else, becoming more complex. But as new techniques develop, some of these new relationships may furnish a key to the perennial puzzle of the fields reserved for federal and state governments.

For instance, this fall a meeting is to be held in Cincinnati of representatives of nine states. Those nine states believe they face a problem which concerns themselves, but not necessarily any of the other states, or the federal government. Therefore they propose to tackle it themselves.

The problem is pollution of the Ohio river. Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and West Virginia believe it chiefly concerns themselves. Therefore, through mutual action, they will try to arrive at a plan where each state will control pollution within its own territory.

New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware recently came to such an agreement on pollution of the Delaware river.

Thus, without continual appeal to the federal government, a technique is gradually being developed for mutual solution among groups of states of problems which distinctly affect those states.

The best way to prevent "encroachment" of federal power into the state field, is by demonstrations like these that states are really able to get to grips with their problems and solve them.

THE XIT REUNION

(New York Herald-Tribune)

The boys whooped it up last week at Dalhart, Tex., at the XIT ranch reunion. At least four southwestern governors were there. They had an old-fashioned square dance, a pageant, a rodeo, boxing bouts. And what, the modern generation may reasonably ask, was so important about the XIT? Well, it was the largest cattle ranch that ever existed in the United States. It consisted of 3,000,000 acres granted by the state of Texas to a syndicate (controlled by the Farwell family of Chicago) in exchange for the enormous granite capitol building at Austin. It extended from the Panhandle southward along the New Mexico line. Once regarded as worthless, it turned out to be excellent cattle country. The Farwells sold it off to settlers colonists who had their good years and their bad—for part of this country lies in the dust bowl. But for a long time, when the cattle industry was booming back in the last century, this ranch was the real thing. Now those acres are dotted with little towns, and the farmers and small ranchers have had enough rain this year to make them feel relatively prosperous.

Premier Daladier now finds the franc threatened, the general economy of the country endangered, and production insufficient for the needs of commerce and defense. So he decrees that for the soldiers "there is no real limit to the duration of military service; for the workers there is no real limit to the duration of labor."

THOUGHT DISCOURAGED AT SCHOOL

In Lin Yutang's book, "The Importance of Living," under the heading of "Good Taste in Knowledge," he inquires, "But why is thought discouraged at school? Why has the educational system twisted and distorted the pleasant pursuit of knowledge into a mechanical, measured, uniform and passive cramming of information? Why do we place more importance on knowledge than on thought? How do we come to call a college graduate an educated man simply because he has made up the necessary units or weeks-hours of psychology, medieval history, logic and religion? Why are there school marks and diplomas, and how did it come about that the mark and the diploma have, in the student's mind, come to take the place of the true aim of education?"

"The reason is simple. We have this system because we are educating people in masses, as if in a factory, and anything which happens inside a factory must go by a dead and mechanical system. In order to protect its name and standardize its products, a school must certify them with diplomas. With diplomas, then, comes the necessity of grading, and with the necessity of grading come school marks, and in order to have school marks, there must be recitations, examinations, and tests. The whole thing forms an entirely logical sequence and there is no escape from it. But the consequences of having mechanical examinations and tests are more fatal than we imagine. For it immediately throws the emphasis on memorization of facts rather than on the development of taste or judgment."

THE PRESIDENT'S IDEA OF SHORT CUT UTOPIAS

It is rather presumptuous on the part of the President to warn people "against those who are advocating short-cuts to Utopias or fantastic financial schemes."

If there ever has been a man in the United States advocating short cuts to Utopias or fantastic financial schemes, it is President Roosevelt.

His scheme to have more by limiting hours is fantastic.

His scheme to raise wages by law is fantastic.

His scheme to establish social security by turning the savings of the working man over to the demagogic politicians for them to spend on current expenses is a fantastic scheme.

His scheme to buy silver at a fictitious price is fantastic.

His scheme to stabilize the French franc and the English pound is fantastic.

His scheme to have the Federal Government have $2,000,000,000 to secretly spend is fantastic.

In fact most everything that Roosevelt has done or suggested is a fantastic scheme to bring about a dream Utopia. Now it certainly is presumptuous to hear him warn against other fantastic schemes. The fact of the matter is that his fantastic schemes are infinitely more dangerous than the $30 a week plan because it is apparent, on the face of it, that it is an absurdity. While the fantastic schemes that Roosevelt has suggested, are not so apparent as to their fantasy. That makes them infinitely more dangerous. Roosevelt is the last man in the world who should warn against fantastic schemes.

DALADIER'S PROBLEM
(Times-Picayune, New Orleans)

Only under pressure of great necessity would an office holder in his senses recommend increase in the length of the working day for his constituents. Premier Daladier of France has been forced into that emergency recommendation. For the time being, he says, the 40-hour week in France must go.

The premier's position will puzzle no one who adheres to the sound principle that short working hours and great leisure time are things to be earned rather than gifts to be distributed among the people merely for the asking; that they are no ready cure for economic disorder, and that depressions are not to be lifted merely by dividing up the work, such as there is.

The short working day is still the reward of greater production brought about through the increased skill of the workman and the aid of technology. Appearing under other conditions it usually is the sign of a disturbed rather than an ordered economy. Under the Popular Front, France gained the 40-hour week and steadily higher wages and salaries, but there never was evidence that the change had been earned by more efficient production and distribution of the goods the country required. It was the political means of meeting one of a series of economic crises.

Frenchmen can gain little now by speculating whether reduced working hours were practicable for all. France had the country been left to pursue a policy of upbuilding unhampered by the demands or huge armaments. France is not among the poorer countries of Europe and normally the position of the working man would be expected to improve. But anything like normal progress is stifled by the enormous amount of labor and horse-power that goes into the unproductive war machine. In neighboring countries labor is conscripted for intensive work in the war industries and it is hardly reasonable to believe that French labor can obtain steadily shorter hours while potential enemies work their populations harder and longer.

Premier Daladier now finds the franc threatened, the general economy of the country endangered, and production insufficient for the needs of commerce and defense. So he decrees that for the soldiers "there is no real limit to the duration of military service; for the workers there is no real limit to the duration of labor."

ONE NEW DEAL OPINION THAT WAS UNQUOTE

(Pasadena, Cal., Star-News)

President Roosevelt in a press conference quoted approvingly an editorial from the New York Post, justifying his "interference" in senatorial primaries for the purging of anti-New Deal solons from the party. He did not quote an editorial from the New York Times, a Democratic newspaper that supported the Roosevelt candidacy in 1932 and again in 1936.

The New York Times concluded a long editorial on the President's attack on his "friend," Senator George of Georgia, by calling attention to "how great a degree of intellectual servitude the President now requires of his followers."

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Confidence has returned to Mr. Roosevelt's business prophets. Everything they are getting shows strength in the upturn. They are sure improvement will continue gradually until the end of the year; then, they believe, there might be a period of readjustment.

Their inside data indicates industrial production will hit 85 for August, highest since last November. Practically all industry is up beyond seasonal expectations (steel, textiles, shoes, machine tools). Only autos and agricultural implements are lagging.

But this is one reason why they are so certain of further improvement. Production of radically new model autos will start strongly in October. The agricultural price situation is not satisfactory, but steps are being taken.

The monthly business chart indicates bottom was hit in May and marks the slow contra-seasonal improvement since then. Each figure is seasonally adjusted to show the percentage of normal at intervals mentioned, normal (100) being the 1922-25 averages.

Conservative business seer, Col. Leonard Ayres, has discovered that the long-run of the stock market has followed income trends. He says for instance, "an investor would have fared well if he had sold his stock holdings in 1929 when the national income line turned sharply downwards and reinvested when it turned sharply upward in 1933 and again sold when it turned down in 1937."

Such an investor would have been late in acting at each major turning point, but he would have profited by the long-term swings of the market. There was a minor downward turn of the income line in 1934 which could have been shown avoided by disregarding any re-

Some kind of a federal job in Texas will be given the lost liberal, ex-representative, Maverick. At his White House tête-à-tête, the president offered him a Washington job, but Maverick did not want to be embalmed. He is planning a comeback.

Georgia's other senator, Russell, tip-toed into town the other day, warned friends not to say he was here. When cornered by newsmen, he refused to say anything except that Georgia is an excellent state.

Russell is not the only uncommitted Georgia politico here hiding back there very soon.

A Farm Plan Across the Sea

By HARLEY L. LUTZ

Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

(Special Correspondence)
LONDON, England—As soon as the American visitor in England begins to read the English newspapers he learns that the English have an agricultural problem, and he immediately feels at home. The only difference is that the English problem is stated as the exact reverse of our own in the United States; we are troubled by production and the major contribution of our agricultural statesmen has been the ingenious ways devised to reduce output while paying the farmers for producing less.

In England the pro-farm group of politicians are playing up the importance of agriculture and its defense position. It is true that if the land were to be absolutely neglected, a sudden natural increase of production could not be obtained in case of a blockade. But England's defense rests also on munitions, for supplying which the sea lanes must be kept open. If this is done, food as well as munition materials can be imported.

Beyond doubt, the country can produce more foodstuffs than at present. The real issue is the price that it will cost. Proper to pay for the increased production is the desired result is a higher tariff. The political friends of the English farmer would keep out the bacon from Denmark, the wheat from America, and the beef from Argentina; rising prices would cause the farmer and the taxpayer heavily, but it may not be too late to regain this lost ground.

No one seems to have considered the effects of such a policy on the standard of living of all other British citizens. In fact, an agricultural tariff would enforce a serious burden upon the entire industrial and urban population.

If we put together the English and the American situations, the two policies of agricultural aid are equally stupid. But if we seek a solution for both nations the answer is obvious. The American farmer needs a larger market, while England needs more foodstuffs. If our farmers had freer access to 40,000,000 more consumers, the need for AAA, for processing taxes, and for governmental regulation of agriculture would disappear.
